

Dramatic Group To Present New Broadway Play

by Edward O. Clarke

Casting has been completed and rehearsals are under way for Sound of Hunting, the Mask and Rapier Society's first major production of the year.

The play which will be held in the auditorium of St. Ignatius' Church on November 24, 25 and 26, is being directed by Mr. William-M. J. Driscoll, S.J., moderator of the society, and Mr. James Perrott.

Played On Broadway

Sound of Hunting was written by Harry Brown, famous New York playwright, whose greatest work was Walk in the Sun. The latter was recently made into a successful movie. The play was originally staged on Broadway during the war.

The success of the show depends upon the interesting, fast-moving dialogue. It portrays the reaction of a patrol of American troops to the loss of a comrade. The play, which was well received by critics in New York, is in three acts and requires an all male cast. Of Sound of Hunting, George Jean Nathan, top dramatic critic, said, "By all odds the worthiest new play of the season to date."

Cast Listed

After numerous tryouts and readings, Mr. Driscoll has announced the probable cast for the forthcoming production. The players include the following: George Herman, Richard Coleman, Thomas Mannion, Robert Custer, John Murray, Emerson Clarke, Lawrence Davis, John McWilliams, Robert Nayden and Robert Schneider.

Glee Club Plans Christmas Program

Staff Photo—Phillips

Members of Loyola's Glee Club take a bow after their first selection at Loyola Night. Mr. Felice Iula, at center, directs the group.

Two Christmas carol programs, one at Loyola College and the other at a downtown department store, will be presented early in December, it was revealed last week by Mr. Felice Iula, Director of the Loyola College Glee Club.

The choral group, whose most recent success came on Loyola Night, will sing carols at O'Neill's Department Store on December 8 from 7 to 7:30 p. m. Thus far, no date has been set for the College Christmas offering.

Forty-five men comprise the mem-

Sweeney Plans Trip To Northern Games

Tentative plans for the chartering of buses and the quartering of students wishing to accompany the basketball team on its northern trip on the weekend of Dec. 19 were announced this week by Robert Sweeney, president of the sophomore class.

The varsity plays Seton Hall at South Orange, N. J., on Friday, Dec. 19, and engages Scranton at Scranton, Pa., the following night. Sweeney plans to charge thirteen dollars per student for round trip transportation, admission to both games and hotel accommodations Friday night.

All students seeking further information should contact Sweeney.

Evening School Meets With NEA

The Work-Survey Conference of the National Education Association, of which Loyola is a member, adjourned its Fall session on October 29 at the Lord Baltimore Hotel.

A committee, headed by the Rev. John E. Wise, S.J., Dean of the Evening School at Loyola, represented the College.

In their reports, the members of the conference discussed such matters as personnel administration, physical facilities provided, and future adaptations which might prove practical.

Other colleges present at the conference were the University of Maryland, the YMCA and YWCA Evening Colleges, Johns Hopkins University, Mt. St. Agnes College, Morgan State College, Goucher College, Notre Dame College, State Teachers College and the University of Baltimore.

Installation Set For December 3

The Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., Rector of Loyola College will be officially installed as President of Loyola at the traditional Inauguration Exercises to be held on December 3, at Evergreen. The ceremonies will be held in the College Gymnasium.

Father Talbot came to Loyola in July of this year, replacing the Very Rev. Edward B. Bunn, S. J. He was formerly the editor-in-chief of America, the Jesuit weekly magazine, and before coming to Evergreen had been engaged in historical research at Georgetown University. Father Talbot is the author of several historical biographies, including, Saint Among Savages, a life of St. Isaac Jogues, S. J.

Prom Climaxes Week Of Junior Activity

Mary Cronin

Climaxing a week of entertainment, the 1947 Junior Prom featuring Randy Brooks and his Orchestra, will begin at 9:00 p. m. this evening in the Main Ballroom of the Lord Baltimore Hotel. John Enoch, Junior Class President, has selected Miss Mary Cronin as Prom Queen.

The Promenade, highlight of the evening, will take place at 11:30 p. m. and will be led by the Prom Queen and her escort. After a bouquet has been presented to Miss Cronin by the Junior Class, she will distribute favors to the dates of the other Juniors.

Stag Party Held

On Tuesday evening, a stag party was held at the home of John Enoch for the members of the Junior Class. The following evening, they attended a dinner and entertainment held in their honor in the Oak Room of the Library Building.

A one act play, For This Is The Best Of All Possible Schools, written by Don Schwartz and directed by George Herman, was presented on Thursday evening in 1F.

The Juniors were the guests of the Mask and Rapier Dramatic Society for the evening.

Party Tonight

A cocktail party for the members of the Junior Class and their dates will be held this evening from 7 until 8:30 after which they will leave for the Prom.

By special arrangement with a local florist, corsages for the Prom were obtained at reduced rates by those attending the dance. Orders were taken last week at Evergreen by a representative of the florist.

Extra Holidays Result From Council Resolution

Loyola's Christmas recess will begin three days earlier than scheduled to allow students to accept part-time jobs with the Post Office Department. The announcement, made yesterday by the Dean's Office, came as a result of a resolution introduced at a recent meeting of the Student Council.

E. O'Neill Cole, Council representative of the January Senior Class, who made the resolution, stated that a very large percentage of students would have difficulty in working because of the policy of double cuts before and after holidays.

A committee composed of Cole, Thomas Daniels and Robert Sweeney was appointed to study the situation and make recommendations to the Council. Upon suggestion of the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., President of Loyola and Moderator of the Council, the committee conferred with the Rev. Matthew G. Sullivan, S. J., Dean of Studies.

Classes End On December 16

Under the new regulation, the last day of class will be Tuesday, December 16, instead of Friday, December 19. Class will be resumed on January 5, 1948 as originally scheduled.

The change brings the total number of free days for the holidays to 19, including Saturdays and Sundays.

Introduced At Open Session

The resolution was originally proposed at the October meeting of the Council, which was a session of the Council open to all students.

Open Student Council Meeting Set For Nov. 14

The second open meeting of the Student Council will be held on next Friday, November 14, at 11:25 a. m. in the Gymnasium.

All members of the student body are asked to attend. Suggestions, comments and proposals from non-Council members may be made at the conclusion of regular business session.

Seniors Plan Spring Ball

Plans to hold the Senior Ball in May instead of January, as had been originally planned, were announced last week by officers of the January, May, and July graduating classes.

Tentative date for the event is May 21. The classes plan to sign the Alcazar and Jim Ferris' orchestra.

Over one hundred upperclassmen will attend the closed event on the Friday, prior to graduation ceremonies, May 23.

Plans are also being formulated for a stag party and banquet.

Labor Seminar Begins Tonight

The opening seminar on the topic "Labor Problems and the Achievement of Industrial Peace," one of the Loyola Evening School's Fall Series of Lectures and Seminars, will be presented in the college library this evening at 8 p. m.

The opening seminars in the "Modern Scripture Translations" and "Medical Ethics" fields were presented on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, respectively, of this week.

Dr. Valentine De Balla, Hungarian-born professor of Political Science in the evening school, will give a trilogy of lectures on successive Sundays on "Russia and the Peace" at the Seton High School Auditorium beginning on November 23.

The Rev. Patrick Skehan, President of the Catholic Biblical Association of America, will conduct the first three Scripture Seminars on November 5, 12, and 19.

Sophs To Hold Party on Nov. 14

The sophomore class (Sept. 1946) will hold a class party on Friday, Nov. 14 in the VFW hall, 5000 block of Harford Road.

The event is being staged under the direction of Raymond Wittelsburger, Class President. James Bowen, former president, is special chairman in charge of the party.

The officers of the class decided that an affair of this type would be the most acceptable means of raising the funds to pay the class' present debt of fifty-six dollars, owed to the Student Council. The party will be stag and is open only to the members of the sophomore class.

Season Book Deadline Near

Last day on which season books for the basketball season can be picked up from the Athletic Office by the student body is November 15.

Less than 400 students have picked up their books thus far. No more books will be issued after the deadline date, and students not possessing the books will have to pay full general admission price to the games.

Meet The Faculty:

Psychology Professor Is Expert On Sleep

Guest contributor to the Fall issue of the Evergreen Quarterly, will be Dr. William H. McHugh, Chairman of the Department of Education of Loyola College. Dr. McHugh's article concerns the effect of sleep on human functions.

Professor McHugh began his teaching career after graduation from high school. He received his A. B. from Holy Cross College in 1925, spent several summers at Clark University, and resumed his teaching at the University of Buffalo and St. Bonaventure's in New York.

He received his M. A. in Philosophy and Education from St. Bonaventure and his Doctorate in Philosophy in Psychology and Education at Temple University. In 1923 he became head of the Department of Secondary Education and director of the Graduate Department at Villanova College. He continued in these positions until he became associated with Loyola College in September 1947.

Since coming to Loyola where he teaches Education and Psychology, Dr. McHugh has noticed with particular interest the enthusiasm displayed by the students in extra-curricular activities. He is a staunch supporter of strong student government and expresses the hope that more interest will be directed toward its growth at Loyola.

Dr. William H. McHugh

Club News:

IRC Regional Conference Begins Tomorrow In N. J.

David L. McManus and Lawrence Atkinson will represent the Loyola International Relations Club at a Regional Conference on November 8, 9 and 10 at State Teachers College, Montclair, New Jersey. The topic for discussion will be Building World Peace.

Loyola will participate in the three sections of the major question, religion, culture and education. Sponsor for the program is the Carnegie Foundation for the Endowment of International Peace.

A new system for regular meetings of the Loyola IRC will introduce sessions on Tuesday at both 2:20 and 3:10 in rooms 200 and 202. This change is expected to be an incentive for increased membership.

Defense notes have been well planned in preparation for the model World Court Convention to be held at Notre Dame College on November 15. Sixteen colleges from Maryland and the District of Columbia will participate. Sidney Shapiro and Samuel Hasson will represent Loyola as officers at the Court.

Debating Society

The Bellarmine Debating Society is sponsoring the newly formed Mason-Dixon Debating Conference for the 1947-48 season. Eight colleges and universities including Catholic U., Georgetown, Hopkins, Washington College, Maryland, Western Maryland, American University and Loyola College have been enrolled in the organization.

Debating engagements for Loyola for the coming year number about fifty. There will be several out-of-town debates and it is expected that Loyola will participate in an invitation meet.

Fall Evergreen Due In Nov.

Loyola's literary magazine, The Evergreen Quarterly, will make its appearance during Thanksgiving Week. The magazine consists of the best contributions of campus short-story writers and poets.

The current issue of The Evergreen will feature an article by Dr. William H. McHugh, professor of Psychology in the day college and Head of the Department of Education in the evening school.

The Evergreen, which was revived in July after five years of wartime inactivity, has a completely different format from its pre-war predecessor.

Dudley M. Shoemaker, president of the student body, is chairman of the board of editors.

ALUMNI DOINGS

By Edward A. Doehler, '30

Successful Alumni Smoker

A vote of thanks is due to Chairman William J. O'Donnell and his energetic committee for putting on the Annual Alumni Smoker held in the Gymnasium on Saturday, October 18. An attendance of 345 was an encouraging indication of increasingly large gatherings in the future. Comments of members since then indicate that the Smoker will be remembered as one of the outstanding events of the Alumni year.

The boys from the Police Department Boys Clubs provided enjoyable entertainment with a display of boxing that was not even marred by the failure of the electric current at some of the most critical moments of the bouts. A capacity crowd filled the Recreation Room for refreshments and entertainment after the bouts.

It was particularly encouraging to see new faces among the crowd, Alumni who were back on the campus for the first time since before the war. The Officers and Executive Committee are looking forward to meeting these men at many future Alumni activities.

Modernization Of Alumni Office Facilities

The officers of the Association are coming to realize the need for more modern equipment for the keeping of our Alumni records. If the office is to provide adequate service for the members and the various Alumni groups within the Association, it will be necessary to install filing and duplicating systems capable of coping with the growing needs. With this in mind President Egan and the Editor paid a visit to the Alumni Office of Georgetown University on October 15 and discussed the problem with Dr. James S. Ruby, Executive Secretary of Georgetown's Alumni Association. Many valuable suggestions were received and will be handed on to the Association in the near future. Your cooperation with your officers will make for a better Alumni office; an improved office set-up will make the Alumni Association of greater value and use to you the members.

Alumni Retreat

It is time to check your calendar and mark the date of the Annual Alumni Retreat at Manresa-on-Severn. Captain John J. Kernan will soon be at work with his committee arranging for this important spiritual activity of the Association. For the present, note the date of the Retreat, December 5-7, and prepare to attend. Mention the retreat to your classmates and arrange to bring a representative group from your year to Manresa.

Notes From The Philippines

Rev. Bernard M. Lochboehler, S. J., '27, writing to his classmate, John B. Conway, from his new station at Caloocan, Rizal, P. I., tells us that Father Henfling, S. J., known to many of our Alumni in the years '26-'28, is returning from the Philippines after many years of service in the missions and is expected to be in Baltimore sometime this month. Father Henfling will be most anxious to meet his friends and will have many interesting stories to tell about the war and the missions.

News In Brief

The Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., President of Loyola College, will leave this Sunday for Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., where he will make his annual retreat. Father Talbot is expected to return to Evergreen on November 15.

Mendel Club

Thomas Burkart, president of the Mendel Club, has announced that his club will sponsor a series of lectures to be presented monthly throughout the school year.

The first lecture, by Tom Garvey, was given on October 21, on 'Hemoglobin.' His use of micro-photographic slides was made possible by the research of the Rev. Joseph Didusch, the moderator, in the field of blood components.

Mathematics Club

Weekly discussions on mathematical subjects, along with lectures of interest to math students, head the list of activity in the Loyola Mathematics Club.

Already two lectures have been delivered at the bi-weekly meetings. They were "Tessellations of the Plane" and "The Theory and History of Pi."

Fall Series...

The Medical Ethics seminars will be given in the college library, 8 p.m., on November 6, 13, 20, and December 4, 11 and 18 by the Rev. Stephen McNamee, S. J., former Professor of Medical Ethics at Georgetown University Medical School.

The Labor Problems seminar will be conducted this evening by Joseph P. Conlin, former United States Commissioner of Conciliation for Maryland, on the topic "Catholic Attitude on Industrial Relations." Rev. William J. Smith, S. J., author of Spotlight on Labor will conduct the Nov. 14 session on the "Program of the A. F. of L."

Other seminars in this series will be held on November 21, December 5, 12 and 19.

Additional speakers, dates, and topics will be reported in THE GREYHOUND of November 21.

Alumni Assn. Election Held

William J. O'Donnell, '37, was elected President of the Alumni Association at the annual election meeting, held in the Oak Room on Oct. 29, 1947. The other officers chosen by the attending members were: J. Joseph Curran, '26, 1st Vice-President, Lingard I. Whiteford, '27, 2nd Vice-President. The new directors appointed for three year terms were: Louis C. Roche, Jerome J. Egan and Harold Molz.

The actual election of officers was conducted by J. Neil Corcoran, '16, chairman of the nominating committee and former president of the Association. The meeting following was presided over by the newly-elected president.

The Jesuit Faculty of the College was represented by the Very Reverend Francis X. Talbot, S. J., President of the College.

After the business meeting, refreshments were served in the Oak Room.

Vets Sponsor First Social

First meeting of the Vets Club for the current semester, held on October 31, resulted in the enrollment of fifty new members.

Movies of the 1946 Notre Dame games and the 1947 Baltimore Colts games will be shown at the Veterans' Club initial social on November 15. Immediately following the movies, a juke box dance will be held in the Recreation Room of the Gymnasium.

Richard Hartman, president of the Club, has appointed Charles Gardner, Joseph Smith and Mickey Parr to the committee in charge of the evening.

Admission Open To All

In announcing the social, Hartman stated that admission will not be limited to members of the club but that non-members will also be invited. There will be a small charge for the non-members.

One of the outstanding games to be shown is the classic tussle between Notre Dame and Army last year which ended in a scoreless tie.

Plan To Honor Dead

Joseph Jenkins, William Connolly and James Bailey have been selected to form a committee to compile a list of the dates on which Loyola students died during the war. On the days commemorating the death of a Loyola man, the Veterans Club plans to attend Mass and Holy Communion.

If regulations will allow, the Veterans Club will have the flag at Evergreen lowered to half-mast on those same days. It is the intention of the club to spread this practice to the entire student body and that such commemorations will become a traditional part of the students' activity.

Evergreen Club Combats Social Discrimination

The Evergreen Club was founded by two Loyola students last summer to develop better understanding between men of different religious faiths through social contact, according to Morton Gilden, president of the club.

Approximately thirty members are in the group, the greater percentage of whom are Loyola students. Since its incorporation on May 29, 1947, the club has branched out so that its activities will soon include sports teams, competitions in bridge and chess, social events and weekly gatherings at the club's apartment on Mulbury Street.

Loyola Men Elected Officers

Officers of the club, which includes members from the University of Baltimore and other local colleges, are Vice-President Lou Schmidt, Treasurer Jack McAllister, Secretary John Kashak, and Sergeant-at-Arms George Fallon, all from Loyola.

Social activities so far have been limited to members, but the club is planning a public dance December 5 to be given at the Summit.

Commenting on the purposes of the club, Mort Gilden explained that it was formed mainly "to provide a group in which students, regardless of religious affiliations, can get together socially. There are too many organizations where you are either in or out, because of your connections. The Evergreen Club is open to all, with one requirement: that the applicant be a gentleman."

Club House Is Elaborate

The apartment, directly behind the Pratt Library on Mulbury Street, has a kitchen, a beautiful bar, a lounge, study and game room. Members, of course, can use it at anytime, and Saturday nights it is utilized for the weekly bull sessions, dances or other events.

The Board of Governors of the Club include: Ray Reuling, Chairman; Christian Knudsen, Allan Glover, Guy Talbott, and Frank Smith.

The club hopes to eventually expand to the scope of a full-fledged country club.

Good Word, But Not That Good

In celebration of the opening of Unconquered in Baltimore, Cecil B. DeMille was attending a banquet recently, to which the Governor, the Mayor and a host of other notables, including Mr. William-M. J. Driscoll, S. J., were invited.

Mr. Driscoll was one up on the others present. He had been primed by a Loyola student on DeMille's weakness, the search for the perfect word describing Unconquered. It seems that banquets in other cities had featured a contest for the best term, with a thousand dollar prize for the winner.

George Herman had suggested that the prime word was Paramonumental. What neither he nor Mr. Driscoll knew was that this word had won contests in three previous cities.

"How do you do?" Mr. DeMille asked. "You must not miss Unconquered; it's a wonderful show."

"And you must come to see Loyola Night," Mr. Driscoll returned. "That will be a magnificent show."

Then a pause. No mention of the contest was made.

Mr. Driscoll then added hopefully, "I have a wonderful word for you to describe Unconquered."

"What is it?" queried DeMille. Paramonumental came the answer. Mr. DeMille laughed. "That's a magnificent word," he said.

Mr. Driscoll said today that the Dramatic Society's budget for the forthcoming year would remain the same.

Night School Mushrooms 1200% Over 1943 Figure

Loyola's Evening School of Adult Education has mushroomed from a nine course program in 1943 to a full fledged permanent institution numbering over seventy faculty members and an enrollment of almost six hundred.

The veterans compose almost sixty-five per cent of the total enrollment. Original 1943 enrollment in the school did not exceed 50.

Business Course Popular

Eighty per cent of the six hundred students are men. The students are enrolled on an average in 2.2 courses and attend classes on an average 9.4 hours per week.

Business degrees are the most popular sought; Law, nursing and C. P. A. degrees are also included in the desired list.

Students Are Students

Numerous high schools in and around Baltimore are represented by their graduates. Former students of Loyola High, Mount St. Joseph, Calvert Hall, St. John's High, Elliott City High, Towson Catholic and City College all attend Night School.

Graduates of the University of Notre Dame, Princeton, Johns Hopkins, Baltimore College of Commerce, Catholic University, St. Charles College and Notre Dame of Maryland College comprise the college graduates who attend evening courses at Loyola.

Careers Listed

The careers which most the students have in view are chosen from the field of business. However, a large number also plan to enter the courts of the State as lawyers and clerks.

Positions as Certified Public Accountants are planned by many of the men. Because of the thorough training at Loyola, most of the students feel that they will be well prepared for the examinations they must pass in the near future.

Nursing Chosen

Many of the female students desire to enter the hospitals as nurses and hospital supervisors.

The teaching profession has not gone unnoticed by the students. This is manifested by the fact that some of the students have expressed the desire to teach at local schools as experience for the future.

Bowen Elected President Of Contract Bridge Club

Election of officers featured the Bridge Club's first meeting of the semester, held on Friday, October 31.

James Bowen was elected President, Edward Hart, Vice-President, and James O'Neill, Treasurer.

Plans for the school year include intercollegiate matches, intra-school tournaments, and instruction classes for beginners.

Membership in the club is open to all students. Those interested should watch the bulletin boards for time and place of meetings.

"We believe that Bridge is a social accomplishment which every college student should possess," said President Bowen, "and our primary aim will always be instruction of neophytes."

LETTERS

To the Editor of THE GREYHOUND

Dear Sir:

We, the undersigned, individually and collectively, take exception to the implications contained in the last paragraph of your article on the foundation of the Alumni Bowling League . . .

It so happens that when the Bowling League was just an idea in the minds of Franny Mueller and the A.S.N. Alumni Club, we gave our wholehearted endorsement to the proposition.

About all the exercise our spouses get is pushing themselves away from the dinner table, and hailing an occasional taxi. We saw in the Bowling League a possible solution to that problem.

But in addition, and this from purely selfish motives, and with no thought to playing watchdog to our better halves, we also saw a chance to avail ourselves of an evening's recreation. After a day spent cooking meals, washing dishes, cleaning house, going shopping, minding babies, washing laundry and mending clothes, we looked forward to this bit of a hen party with bowling as much of an excuse, as an end in itself.

And finally in regard to that expression, "adjacent alley." The term adjacent must be interpreted to mean here, "adjacent to the wall." A flying pin from our alley almost knocked Johnny Bothwell from his podium in the Famous Ballroom.

Yours sincerely,

NITE LIFE

If you bowl regularly, it's quite possible you will join a league or form one of your own in the neighborhood. Let's take a quick look into the normal Sunday evening's gathering of a bowling league at the Recreation Center.

The bowler himself is the most important participant. However, there is an occasional pool room debate with the pin boy and this brings the latter into the contest. I have often thought that if an extra tip is thrown in before the game, the pin boy does his best to kick, fan or tip over a few extras for his friends.

The object of the game, of course, is to waylay as many of the little pins as possible. Three balls are allowed with which to complete the task.

The correct throw is the easiest way to perfect a score but some few have not grasped this fact as yet. J. D., a member of our squad, has racked up two pin boys with his average score. We don't mind too much, but it does upset the management.

We have another lad who concentrates, takes off with a powerful glide, trips, and slides half-way down the alley with the ball. It may be an excellent way to reduce, but it doesn't help the score.

Ah well, it's all in the sport, and after all, a little diversion breaks up the monotony.

Editorials

Forever Awful

We had a bit of a go at the movie industry last year when Duel In the Sun belched out of Hollywood, and we just can't restrain ourselves for another minute now that they've gone and done the same thing under the title Forever Amber.

There may be some decent and sincere artists in Hollywood. If there are, they are all but obscured by the much more numerous buck-hungry filmsters. Hollywood realizes quite clearly, if most Americans do not, that it doesn't matter very much whether the public enjoys a picture, as long as they go to see it. Once that half dollar is fed to the boxoffice's maw, Hollywood's interest in its patrons ceases.

Following this time-honored theory to its logical conclusion, the film colony realizes that its products do not have to be good to be profitable. The result has been a steady stream of rotten movies (and we don't mean rotten simply in the moral sense, but also from the entertainment angle) which have been heavily publicized in every available newspaper, street car, magazine and billboard. Hyperbolic adjectives galore have been coined to lure the public.

Latest attempt, and one which gave promise of every success, was the production of Winsor's Forever Amber. The pull was obvious: the publicity from the recent best-seller ought to pull in a million or so. An expected ban by the Legion of Decency ought to do for another million, although the loss of Catholic attendance would be a shame. Lurid publicity ought to put the show into the five-figure profit bracket.

Fortunately, however, the plan seems to have misfired. A number of national magazines, known for praise of everything Hollywood gives out, refused to be bribed this time. They gave Forever Amber the worst black eye a picture can get: it is simply poor entertainment.

Cardinal Spellman and the Legion of Decency promptly banned the film, a step no doubt expected by the filmsters involved. Perhaps, however, these combined condemnations will be enough, this time, to stop the flood of dirt started so long ago by Duel In the Sun.

Poor products may succeed in making money for a time because of overbearing publicity. But sooner or later the time must come when such publicity will have an opposite effect. When large sums are spent to publicize "the greatest epoch to hit the screen in four centuries," the public will suspect that the publicity is necessary because the product is poor. We hope that this day is on its way.

But the final decision rests with the American movie-going public.

Johnny Long

Johnny Long and his Orchestra will play at a benefit dance at the University of Maryland Armory on November 21st. Door prize is a trip to St. Louis or Chicago. Tickets, which are priced at $5.75 per couple, may be obtained from Frank Gallagher or Ferd Leimkuhler.

The School Fund of St. Mary's, Laurel, Md., is to receive the proceeds from the dance.

As long as they are willing to be suckers to Hollywood's dollar craze, the cinemaddicts will continue to play them that way. Hollywood will fold when its ER (Entertainment Rating) is poor; and this will happen only if Americans command it by long pauses between ticket sales.

Thanks (Sob!)

We didn't quite know how to handle the junior avalanche of birthday cards and congratulatory letters which came into the office following our post-card announcement of THE GREYHOUND's 20th anniversary. They were unexpected and greatly appreciated.

We hope this little piece will constitute an adequate thank-you, a really sincere one, to the colleges, high schools, and individuals, who took time to send their greetings.

Gripe Sheet

1. Last week a rumormonger reported that the washroom had received a shipment of liquid soap. We were apprehensive, if overjoyed, at first. We checked the situation with the janitor and were informed that no changes in the soapless-weekdays program is expected, at least for this decade. His logic was overwhelming: "If you haven't got any towels, what's the use of having soap?"

2. A number of bad-weekend students approached us the other week, hands pressed to heads, wondering where they could get some aspirin or bicarbonate. Humorous or not, it is a fact that there are none of these practical first aid items available on the campus. Headaches can come from more than weekend over-indulgence, and penance should not be forced upon all. Perhaps a few suggestions to the proprietor of the cafeteria . . .

Emily Pest...

Is gravy or sauce poured or ladled from a gravy boat? If a ladle is used, why does the boat have a spout?

The gravy should be viciously dumped from the boat. In answer to your other question, let me assure you that all boats should have spouts. This allows for the smoke from the Engine Room to go somewhere. You should do likewise.

Can you blow on your soup to cool it off?

You can do that or add cold water. Either is permissible. I suggest you stuff your mouth with ice cubes, stand back from the table and really let go with wintry blasts.

Should tea be poured from the cup into the saucer so as to cool it off?

I do it; I don't see any reason why you, or any other red-blooded American, should not follow my exact example.

What should one do when one has an awful urge to "belch?"

Belch.

What should you do when you have a bottle of refreshment but no glass?

Have you ever tried putting the bottle up to your lips and guzzling? This is the practice followed by all fashionable Fifth Avenuers. Only the riff-raff down on the docks break the bottle first.

When walking down the aisle of a church, should you or shouldn't you?

Your question shows a wealth of thought on the subject. I am inclined to take the affirmative on that, but I won't. Always keep your chin at a 45 degree angle. This will allow for up-sweeps and winds of high velocity.

When being introduced as a deb, should you try to breathe in series of three seconds or four seconds? Please answer soon as I am experiencing difficulty in holding my breath waiting for your answer.

You are, no doubt, a sweet child. But you are taking life too seriously. My advice to you is to take a stiff brandy and breathe as your upbringing has inherently taught you.

Is it permissible to use tooth-picks?

It all depends on what you want to use them for. I wouldn't attempt to prop up the dining room table with them. However, if you dipped them into sulfur, you might be able to use them as matches; that is if you struck them right.

Entertainment Calendar

SCREEN

The Spirit of West Point replaces Gunga Din on the HIPPODROME screen, with Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis as the so-called stars. Too much is seen and heard of a grey-flag-waving plot, and not enough of the football action you are expecting with the Touchdown Twins. The Three Suns take over the stage spotlight.

Nightmare Alley, an unusual story with a novel twist, and starring Tyrone Power and Joan Blondell shoves Forever Amber off the NEW screen. Don't be misled by the over-publicized notices of the show. It is really good.

The Fugitive starring Dolores Del Rio and Henry Fonda has its world premiere at the TOWN on Wednesday, November 12. Directed by John Ford, I predict an Academy Award to the director and cameraman of this terrific production. Really tops in entertainment.

The Magic Bow, with two of England's brightest and most popular stars heading the cast, opens at the LITTLE this week. Phyllis Calvert and Stewart Granger are the stars, and this should be a repeat hit of The Madonna of the Seven Moons. The top show of 1947, Open City preceded The Magic Bow. If you missed it, try to see it when it comes to your neighborhood theatre. It was filmed in Italy during the war.

STAGE

The Firefly takes over at Ford's following the Noel Coward series, Tonight at 8:30, which had nothing to recommend it except Gertrude Lawrence (which is a great deal, of course). Some of the top tunes from the pens of Rudolph Friml are in the Firefly score; "Donkey Serenade," "Giannina Mia," and "Sympathy" to mention only a few.

CONCERT STAGE

La Traviata as presented by the Philadelphia La Scala Opera Company, comes to the Lyric on November 13. The Ballet Theatre follows the next night with some of the most popular ballets and on the following evening, the Lyric presents the recent hit Tally-Ho.

Books

by J. Scrimger

From the time of Beaudelaire the trend of the more important poetic work has been toward the obscure. It is a poetry that appeals to the subconscious. The poets obtain their effects with a curious contempt for detail, and the most ordinary feelings in life are translated into terms of something stronger than sensation, into terms of passion. W. H. Auden bids us

*. . . plunge your hands in water,
Plunge them in up to the wrist;
Stare, stare into the basin,
And wonder what you've missed.*

There is one poet, however, whose work is conspicuous in its lack of innovation. Robert Frost is America's most famous poet and one of its most influential. He has just written a new book of verse entitled Steeple Bush.

Frost has not aimed at the obscure or intangible. For this he is not to be blamed; but he has chosen the more difficult path. He has aimed at a simplicity and compactness that has been so worn that it is difficult to achieve it without a hint at the commonplace. In one of the little Nocturnes he says:

She always had to bum a light

Good gloom on her was thrown away;

It is on me by night or day.

Though most of the contents of Steeple Bush is in the old Frost tradition, it is apparent that here, there is not found poetry but simply scholarly and agreeable verse.

Running With The Hounds

by Spence Davidson

Lefty Reitz, in an exclusive interview shared only by Wilson, Ed Hart, three basketball players looking for clean towels, and an intrepid freshman attempting to steal a new ping-pong ball, announced last week that he was toying with the idea of taking movies of the basketball games this season. Lefty's reasons ostensibly are to run the films after the game to see who is doing what wrong or who isn't doing what right, etc. But the thing is bigger than any of us realize, and it is up to someone to show him just where matters could end up. The day quite possibly could come when everything that transpires on the corner of Hollywood and Vine would be transferred to the corner of Charles and Cold Spring.

In the first place, we have the Legion of Decency staring us in the face. Pictures would be classified, and we might come across one that was condemned in part because Paul Feeley body-checked his man into section C 21 of the North stands. In like manner, another could possibly be condemned because Andy O'Donnell's pants showed a sudden tendency to head South at 3.21 of the third period.

The best bet as far as drawing crowds goes is to show these epics as serials in conjunction with the Mask and Rapier Society's Friday night soirees (word used courtesy of the Notre Dame Columbus). Then we could manufacture such come-on posters as "Will Ksychowkiwitsky take his finger out of Lacy's eye, or will Big Jim rack up two points anyway? See next week's daring episode." See what we mean?

One point will have to be ironed out, a point that even Hollywood has trouble solving sometimes. This is the ever-present danger of bit players stealing scenes from stars, and it could happen here. You might, for instance, have Tom Gisriel dashing up the floor sideways in order to have a full-face exposure of himself appear for fifteen seconds on the screen. Not that Tom's a bit player in any sense of the word, but that's the first example that came to mind. Besides, he's one inch taller and forty-five pounds heavier than we are.

One happy point is the fact that the basketball squad will tempt many men to come out and demonstrate their talents in order to win fame and fortune on the silver screen. Take Tommy Lind for instance. Robert Taylor hasn't a thing that Lind doesn't have, except possibly a widow's peak, and think what Lind could do for the basketball team. Horrible thought, isn't it?

Lastly, there is definitely a psychological factor involved. Imagine what a telling effect such a stunt would have on visiting teams if Loyola students lined the route of march from dressing room to playing floor shouting "Yah! You're going up for a screen test and you're going to fluff it. Don't be nervous when the cameras begin to roll." By the time the visitors reached the floor they'd be in such a frenzy that they'd be a walkover for the local aggregation. As we said, there are more possibilities to this thing than Lefty imagined when he thought it up.

The Grab Bag

Irish Picked Over Army By 28-0; Baylor Selected To Upset Texas

by Vince Bagli

GAMES OF NOVEMBER 8

Notre Dame over Army—The wraps come off for this one. Blaik's "Doggies" asked for it, and they'll get it. Kusserow, Rossides and Yablonski broke the streak but it won't be by one point this week. And you know it, Roy. Pour it on, Irish. Probable score 28-0.

Penn over Virginia—In a game which should be most interesting. Two sound offensive-minded clubs. Cavaliers like Ivy League competition. Ask Harvard. Rebel, Yankee rivalry in this one. Probable score 28-21.

Also:
Boston College to edge Wake Forest.
California to beat Washington.
Harvard to nose out Princeton.

Northwestern to lick Ohio State.
U. C. L. A. over Oregon State.
U. S. C. to trample Stanford.
Mississippi to whip Tennessee.
Iowa to topple Wisconsin.
Columbia to down Dartmouth.
Cornell to club Syracuse.
Duke to maul Missouri.
Georgia to smear Florida.
Holy Cross to take Colgate.
Minnesota to squeeze by Purdue.
North Carolina to knock off North Carolina State.
Rice to nail Arkansas.
Southern Methodist to outscore Texas A. & M.
Yale to crush Brown.
Georgia Tech to sink Navy.

SPECIAL—Baylor to upset Texas.
Last week's record: Won 12, Lost 3, Tied 0. Season record 30-13-2.

Cross Country

Mt. St. Mary's Downs Harriers In Close Meet

Mt. St. Mary's cross country team handed Loyola's harriers their first setback of the young season with a 23-32 decision over the Mounts' home course at Emmitsburg.

Rain fell constantly throughout the meet, and the wet, slippery course proved difficult and treacherous. Despite the hindrance caused by the weather, eight of the runners showed enough speed to eclipse the former track record set at the course.

Brown First Again

George Brown, Loyola's Mr. Cross Country, crossed the finish line first as usual. It was the third time in three outings that the fleet-footed Brown nailed down individual honors. His time, the new track standard, was 22:49.

John Paszek, freshman, was the Hounds' next best runner, finishing fifth in the eleven-man field. Kaufman ended seventh, and Davis, Atkinson and Kimmett ended in a three-way tie for ninth position.

Meet Set Tomorrow

Loyola runs its fourth match of the year tomorrow afternoon at the home Clifton Park course, entertaining St. Joseph's (Philadelphia).

Results of the Mt. St. Mary's meet:

- 1—G. Brown, Loyola
  - 2—Naughton, Mt. St. Mary's
  - 3—McGlade, Mt. St. Mary's
  - 4—Wahl, Mt. St. Mary's
  - 5—Paszek, Loyola
  - 6—Fillion, Mt. St. Mary's
  - 7—Kaufman, Loyola
  - 8—Dolan, Mt. St. Mary's
  - 9—Davis, Loyola
- Atkinson, Loyola
Kimmett, Loyola.

George Brown

Brown First In Sho'men Meet

It was George Brown in front again as Loyola's cross country squad downed Washington College's harriers, 23-32, in a dual meet at Clifton Park. Brown, covering the difficult four mile course in 23.6 minutes, outpaced Bowie and Simonson of the Sho'men who garnered the second and third spots.

Jerry Kimmett and Jim Kaufman, both of Loyola, finished fourth and fifth, respectively. It was the Hounds' second consecutive victory of the season.

The results:

- |                        |         |
|------------------------|---------|
| 1—G. Brown, Loyola     | (23.6)  |
| 2—Bowie, Washington    | (24.45) |
| 3—Simonson, Washington | (25.61) |
| 4—Kimmett, Loyola      | (25.18) |
| 5—Kaufman, Loyola      | (25.48) |
| 6—Paszek, Loyola       |         |
| 7—Dempsey, Loyola      |         |
| and                    |         |

Twenty Five Years In The Majors

Ed Rommel's Greatest Thrill Was Loss To Johnson In Opening Game

by Don Fay

Ed Rommel recalls some of the many incidents he has experienced in 25 years of service in the American League.

I lost to Walter Johnson on opening day back in 1925. The game went 15 innings before he beat me, 1-0. Naturally I was down in the dumps after losing, but Johnson was a great man—the kind of person you'd rather lose to than beat."

Has Uncanny Memory

Mr. Rommel feels that it is unfair to call one man the greatest player of all time. His idea is to bracket certain players in ten-year periods, and pick the best from

Hounds Tie Terps, 4-4

by Gerry McCormick

The Greyhound booters and the University of Maryland battled to a 4-4 tie after playing on even terms throughout the regular game and two extra periods. The contest, played at College Park, was an exceptionally exciting one and neither team held a lead of more than one goal at any time.

After eight minutes of brisk action in the first quarter, Maryland was guilty of shoving and Bill Linz made good on his penalty shot to put the Hounds into the lead. Outside of this goal, neither team could penetrate the other's defense with any success in the early minutes.

Score Tied At Half

With the second quarter only six minutes gone, the Terps suddenly scored two quick goals to take a 2-1 lead. Shortly after this, however, Nick Kropfelder took a pass from Harry Bullington and blasted it into the net, and the teams left the field at the half with the score tied at 2-2.

Shortly after the opening of the second half, Maryland's Worden scored the first of his two goals to boost the Terps into the lead. But the Greyhounds fought back determinedly and tied the score again when Harry Bullington booted one in at 12:20 of the third quarter.

Dotterweich Ties Score

Play was extremely rough in the final quarter. Midway through the period, Worden scored again to put the Terps into a 4-3 lead. Nick Kropfelder, believing the referee had kicked him, protested so vehemently that he was ejected from the game.

Loyola moved the ball down the field following this incident, and with only two minutes remaining, Jerry Dotterweich, outstanding each group. "It's impossible to say who's the best of Cobb, Ruth, Speaker, Johnson, Jackson and so on."

Possessed with an uncanny memory, he can recall dates of certain plays and games instantaneously. "It's not so remarkable," he said after we mentioned his adeptness at remembering events, "when you consider that it's my job."

A native Baltimorean, born in 1897, he first played with St. Ann's Church club, and then saw duty with the Wells Fargo semi-pro nine. In 1916, he was with Seaford (Del.) of the Eastern Shore League, and by 1918, the strong-armed pitcher was up in the top minors with the Newark Bears.

Knocked Out Twice

"It's hard to figure out why Mr. Mack took me up to the A's. He came to see me pitch toward the close of the '19 season. In the first game, I was knocked out in the first inning. I tried again in the second game, but I was out by the third inning."

Mr. Rommel now has part ownership in the Stadium Bowling Alleys, and he has been manager there for the past four years. Besides baseball and bowling, his favorites, he also enjoys golf, football and basketball.

His only son, Ed, is a sophomore in the BS II course at Loyola.

Alumni Bowling

'43 Class Leads Loop

Loyola College's Alumni Bowling League ended its sixth week of competition last Thursday night at the Charles Bowling Alleys.

Leading a circuit of eight teams is the October Class of '43, having won 15 out of a possible 18 games. The class of '47 ranks second with a record of 14 games won and 4 lost.

Forty-six alumni members are participating in the league which is in its first year of organization. Top pinsters of the group are W. Talbott, October '43, F. Mueller, '47, and N. Brady, January '43B, with averages of 105.20, 104.73, and 102.33 respectively.

Top honors for the highest individual single game go to Ed McGraw, January '43B, who copped a 147. Laun, '40 and McCollum, '47, follow with scores of 132 and 130.

The greatest amount of points racked up in any one evening was achieved by Charlie Bitterli with a total of 348 for three games. He is closely trailed by Cummings who scored a 346.

According to League Commissioner Francis Mueller, a handicap system will start on November 13.

The Alumni Bowling League is under the sponsorship of the Alpha Sigma Nu Alumni Club of Baltimore and it will meet every Thursday night at the Charles Bowling Alleys except January 29 when Loyola's basketball team meets Texas Wesleyan at the Coliseum.

Bowling Standings

Latest standings in the Alumni Bowling League, including games played Thursday evening, October 30, are as follows:

	WON	LOST
Class of October '43	15	3
Class of '47	14	4
Class of '40	12	6
Class of January '43B	11	7
Class of January '39-'41	9	9
Class of '35	8	10
Class of January '43A	3	15
Class of January '44-'45	0	18

Rifle Club Elects Stone

Stanley Stone was elected president of the newly organized Rifle Club at a recent meeting of the group. Vernon Lemmon was chosen vice-president, and the duties of treasurer were given to Edward Harris.

The club is another innovation at the College this year. Formed by students who have had some experience with guns, the aim of the organization is to teach interested members proper gun handling and accurate shooting.

Stone reports that the club has applied for membership in the National Rifle Association of America, and he hopes to receive the charter at an early date. He is also seeking the use of a local rifle range on which to hold practice sessions.

If enough students become interested and if a sufficient number have ample talent, the group intends to form a team and enter active competition with other clubs.

Intramurals

Playoffs Open; Rompers Crush Credits, 26-8

The playoffs for the 1947 championship of the Loyola College Intramural Football League began last week after the completion of the regular season's play. Winners of the respective leagues will play one another until all but one team is eliminated.

A double elimination process, by which a team continues to play until it is defeated in two games, is being used. The rules for these post-season contests are that in case of a game ending in a tie, the winner will be decided by the sudden death method, with the team having possession of the ball at the end of the game retaining the ball at the spot where time ran out.

The following teams are competing in the playoffs: the Rompers, Little Juniors, Chilton A. C., Buffers, Credits and Flames.

The playoffs which are still in progress have shown plenty of action so far. The Buffers scraped by the Little Juniors in a sudden death test, 12-6, with Corcoran leading the way by scoring both the winners' touchdowns. The Rompers, considered the most potent team on the campus, crushed the Credits, 26-8, as captain Frank Scrivener, Jim Lacy and Walt Simms all figured in the scoring. The Rompers then outlasted Chilton, 24-14, in a game marked by many scoring opportunities on both sides.

In other games, Chilton, sparked by Vidali, beat the Flames 18-6. The latter team was then eliminated, losing 13-0 to the Little Juniors.

Tennis Tourney

The second round of the tennis tournament is drawing to a close and has had down to the wire competition in several matches. John Spurrier and Dick Armstrong played close sets with Spurrier winning 7-5, 6-3.

When Tom McDermott, as a result of his 6-0, 6-1 win over J. S. Galloway, met Spurrier, the match had to be called because of darkness after two sets. However the match was continued the following day. As a result of this set Spurrier won the match by virtue of a 6-1, 3-6, 6-3 score. This victory made Spurrier the winner of the first section of the tournament and in position to become champion.

In the second bracket a winner is yet to be named. Ed Ward and Alvin Hammond have not played their match to decide who is the winner of this section. Ward eliminated Edgar Gilbert 6-2, 6-2 and Hammond defeated Ed Miller 6-2, 6-1. When Ward and Hammond have played their match the winner will meet Spurrier in the championship match.

This match promises to be a close contest, since the three possible winners—Spurrier, Hammond and Ward—have all shown excellent form.

Washington College Wins By 3-2, Assumes First Place

Hounded by a determined Loyola squad, Washington College's soccer team squeezed out a close 3-2 win last Friday at Evergreen. Played before a small group of shivering spectators the game brought the record to two wins and three losses; with one of each a Mason-Dixon tilt.

By its victory, the Washington team assumed first place in the conference race.

Bill Linz

Maryland Soccer . . .

 freshman attackman, scored the tying goal.

Extra Period Necessary

This 4-4 deadlock at the end of the regular game necessitated at least one overtime session. Both teams made serious penetrations, but darkness set in before another goal was made.

Making timely interceptions, Duke Kerr and Ellsworth Andrews played brilliantly for Loyola. The Linz brothers and Nick Kropfelder were as usual the big guns on the offense, but Harry Bullington and Joe Boulay also caused much trouble for the Terps.

Close scrimmages at the goals and see-sawing, mid-field passing bouts enlivened the contest. The first quarter featured heads up play by 'Buns' Vidali, who nearly massacred referee Gemmel in his attempts to shake the ball loose. Frequent out of bounds due to the fresh westerly breeze blowing over the field, and many out-pass recalls, slowed the action considerably. Starkley scored for the Sho-men in 17:13 minutes.

The game became even livelier during the second frame. After six minutes of scrimmage, Bacchetta managed to slam one in for Washington. Boulay came in for Bullington, and Amer replaced Vidali, in the meanwhile.

The third period wasn't long underway before the Greyhounds were scratching at the Sho-men's gate. They were driven off after a close miss.

Bill Linz had to quit after being kicked in a leg previously injured. Washington took advantage of this falter, and although Linz returned in a few minutes, the Sho-men had their third point to none for Loyola. Andrews netted one for the Green and Gray; and the team came to life. Nick Kropfelder's clashes with opposing forwards began to strike sparks. Gants continued to be impenetrable at the Loyola goal, and made several close saves in the closing minutes of the quarter.

This revitalization of the Loyola squad carried over into the fourth frame, and it was a battle from beginning to end. Kropfelder managed to get one more tally on the board, but after trying their hardest, the Hounds were not quite able to overcome the Sho-men defense. A close liner by Lind from twenty-five yards out missed by the width of the pole; that was the last scoring chance left to the Greyhounds. From then on Washington trapped the ball and withheld it from the ravening Hounds.

The Line-Up

Larry Atkinson's Value Is Gaining Needed Points

by Mickey Parr

(This is the fourth in a series of articles on outstanding Loyola athletes.)

'Hey George, wait for me!' This could easily be supposed as the by-word of Larry Atkinson, Loyola track and cross-country athlete, if one happened to be perusing through the records of his activities. For it seems that minus the presence of George Brown, Larry would have been the leading contender as the Greyhound's top hill-and-daler last season.

Seriously though, this guy Atkinson is not and does not claim to be a star athlete. However, he is a hard working, earnest, and dependable member of Loyola's running teams, contributing a fair share to Greyhound points.

Consistent Runner

He's the type of fellow who cops the place or show position, when the coach is hoping for an extra point or so to win a meet. Not "spectacular," but "consistent," sums up the estimate of track boss Bill McElroy toward the lad.

Up to this point, Larry has put in a campaign apiece for the Greyhound track and cross-country squads. A year ago, he continually came through as the second Green and Gray runner to romp over the finish line in dual cross-country meets (George Brown was leading the pack).

Served In Navy

Last spring, Larry raced in the half mile and 2 mile track events, occasionally lending a hand in the 440 and the mile. Five times he placed within the first three men in his major events, and in the Penn Relays he acted as anchor man on Loyola's mile relay team.

During his tenure in the Navy, Larry kept himself in running shape and surely must have picked up some good pointers. He worked out on a carrier deck with Jerry Thompson, who is now one of the country's top milers at Texas U.

Bullet Drills Help Quintet

During the past few weeks the Greyhound basketball squad has been working out with the Baltimore Bullets, of the Basketball Association of America. To date the Hounds have had two scrimmages at Loyola and a third at the Fayette Street Armory.

The Loyola squad has learned a great deal from the Bullets in their scrimmages and even though professional skill prevailed, they impressed the very few spectators with their fine pass work, set shots and team play.

Zedalis Looks Good

Of all the new talent out for a position on the squad, Mike Zedalis, a newcomer to Loyola from Free-land, Pennsylvania, has shown up as one of the finest in getting re-bounds and deception.

On the veteran side, both Tom Gisriel and Bob Barry have im-proved over last year. Tom is faster and Bob, with a year of college ex-perience behind him, is more con-fident in handling the ball. Bucky Ward, a holdover from last year's championship team, had to stop playing because of a physical dis-ability.

Television May Come

It has been announced that Loyola College has been approached by both the new television stations here in Baltimore, WBAL and WMAR (The Sun Television). Both of these stations want to televise various games that the College will play this season, and probably one of the two stations will do so. Nothing definite will be decided un-till the middle of November.

Work has been going on recently in the gym to prepare it for the coming season. The new seats which will be situated on the East side and will increase the seating ca-pacity by several hundred people are being set up. White boundary markers have been painted on the new glass backboards and signs are in the process of being painted for the electric scoreboard.

Season Opener

First game listed for the Hounds is the annual tussle with the Alumni quintet. The contest is listed for the Evergreen arena on November 29 and season books are not neces-sary for admission.

On December 2, three days later, the Greyhounds play host to Tow-son State Teachers. This will be the first Mason-Dixon Conference game for Loyola as well as the initial game of the regular season.

Varsity, Bullets Engage In First Open Scrimmage

Loyola's varsity basketball team and the professional Baltimore Bullets engaged in their fourth scrim-mage of the season last Monday night on the Evergreen floor. It was the first scrimmage open to stu-dents, and hundreds sat in on the pre-season test.

Lefty Reitz opened with Andy O'Donnell and Wish Galvin at the guard posts, Tom Gisriel at center, and Jim Lacy and newcomer Mike Zedalis at the forwards.

Lacy Scores 16

This unit, although it played for two quarters only, displayed plenty of coordination and scoring power.

Sodality Members Schedule Sports

A good sport is a good man. The Junior Sodality, accepting this as its motto has set a varied sched-ule for the sportsmen among its members. First among these is bas-ketball, which is to be coached by varsity stalwart Jim Lacy, and sev-eral of the other varsity squad members who are in the Sodality.

At least two teams will be form-ed, and they will play in the Intra-mural conference this season.

Already in action are several teams of bowlers, who are battling for a first place spot in the Sodality conference. These teams are being coached by Tommy Daniels, and play at the local alleys.

Block L

Over Fifty Couples Attend Halloween Weenie Roast

by Tom Gisriel

Taking advantage of a Hallowe'en moon, the members of the Block L Club held a huge weenie roast on the spacious lawn of George Buch-ness' home in Catonsville.

The night was a typical October 31 with an Autumn chilliness that caused many couples to recall their scouting days and to build small fires. As the night progressed, the members of the four camp fires con-tested to decide who could sing the loudest and longest. It was a scene direct from Hollywood to see a full moon beaming through the trees on fifty or more couples lying on blankets around four camp fires singing songs, roasting their hot dogs and drinking beer or cokes.

Had Own Stein

Some of the more enthusiastic Comos and Crosbys were Doc Connor, who brought his own stein, which held about a quart, and Bob DeLisle, who had trouble keeping his brown Stetson up over his eyes. Skip Barry and Bob Miller, gave their own rendition of the Univer-sity of Pennsylvania school song, but Vince Gallagher quickly oppos-ed them and upheld his native state.

Some of the highlights of the eve-ning were the hunting cap that Maude Roche wore, Jim Bailey's singing of "Old McDonald Had a Farm," and Janet Reese's colorful pedal pushers that Paul Feeley ad-mired all evening.

Had Own Portable

Gordon Erberts was well supplied for the evening since he brought along a portable radio for the time when his voice would give out. But none of the dungaree and wool plaid shirt clan could top Skip Barry, who brought gloves in order that his hands wouldn't get cold holding the glasses.

Many of the Alumni members of the club were present to join in the fun. Sid Roche, Herb Prescott and Jack Sweeney were some of the hardest singers gathered around the fires.

Thanks are due to George Buch-ness for the use of his home and to John Mohler and Del Hanzsche for their help in making the party a tremendous success.

Sweater Rules Changed By A. A.

Tom Gisriel, president of the Athletic Association, reports that the requirements for earning an athletic sweater have been changed.

Previously only a senior who had won a major letter in the same sport for two consecutive years was eligible to receive a sweater. This meant an athlete would not have a chance to wear a sweater during his time in school, since sweaters are distributed at the end of the school year.

The new rule reads: any athlete who wins a major letter in the same sport for two consecutive years, or wins three major letters in one year, is eligible to receive a sweater.

Movie, Dance Tomorrow Night

Phantom of the Opera, a technicolor movie musical featuring Nelson Eddy and Claude Rains, will be presented tomorrow evening in the Gymnasium at 8:30 by the Entertainment Committee of the Mask and Rapier Dramatic Society. A Juke Box Dance will follow the movie.

Frank Gallagher, chairman of the committee, announced that experiments have been made to improve the sound in the Gymnasium, so that there will be no difficulty in hearing. Ned McNeal has been placed in charge of the tickets for the evening and James O'Neill heads the Arrangement Committee.

The presentation is the second in a series of movies and dances to be presented monthly throughout the scholastic year. Tickets were available this week for thirty cents per person. Admission at the door will be fifty cents.

Assisting the committee heads are Stanley Stone, Charles Chaney, Austin Byrd, Cyril Keller, Edward Clarke, William Dempsey, James Norris, Ferd Leimkuhler, Daniel Mackey, Francis X. Bagwell and Milton Harris.

Bailey Elected NFCCS Delegate

James Bailey was elected senior representative to the National Federation of Catholic College Students for Loyola at a meeting of the Student Council on October 23.

Bailey chose Edward Clarke, Eugene Corrigan, Donald Fay and John Bailey as junior delegates to the Federation.

The NFCCS is a national organization composed of representatives from practically every Catholic College in the United States. The Federation is divided into three regional commissions: Science, International Relations and Radio. In the field of International Relations, it holds joint conferences with the IRCs of Catholic Colleges.

The large 20,000 volt power rectifier standing outside the Science Building was recently relieved of its protective tarpaulin covering. It had been forced to remain there hidden from view, since it was too massive to pass through the Building's entrance.

Six promising young physicists made a detailed study of the power unit, and after carefully tracing the circuit and drawing the diagram, they dissected the instrument for a more compact re-assembly in a corner of the electronics lab, where it will fill a long-felt need for direct high voltage current.

Weighing three tons in its original cabinet and valued at $3000, the rectifier unit is the largest single item of a wealth of electronics equipment acquired by the Physics Department.

The installation of an amateur radio station is already underway.

Married Men On Campus Plan Novel Organization

A novel organization, the Married Men's Club, has been formed on the Loyola College Campus. James Bailey, William Healy and Howard Hurst, all married men, decided to form the club in order to sponsor greater social contact among the wives whose husbands attend Loyola College.

To moderate the newly-formed group, the members have chosen Mr. Vincent Colimore, instructor of French, also a married man. He will take charge and plan all group activities among the married couples.

To Obtain Baby Sitters

In order that all members may be able to attend the meetings and take an active part in all social activities, the group is drawing up a list of available baby sitters to be engaged for the evenings when Mom and Pop are stepping out.

Another proposed service by the organization is an apartment-listing bureau which will try to accommodate members in need of homes and apartments. Still another service of the organization will be the Job-Placement Bureau which will list the jobs available for the wives of the group.

Qualifications Listed

The only initiation required to obtain membership in the new group is the nuptial ceremony. The group feels that this requirement is quite sufficient in view of the anxiety and nervous tension involved in getting married.

When the group has a sufficient number in its ranks, who have children, it is expected that corporations can be formed within the club devoted exclusively to baby sitting, job placement and apartment listing.

Although the organization is still in its infancy, membership is expected to increase just as soon as spring rolls around. Even greater increases are anticipated during June of each year.

Mercy Villa Chorister Success In Hollywood

From Hollywood comes word that Master Leonard O'Hearn, one of Father Delaney's Mercy Villa Choristers, after a successful audition, has signed with the famous Mitchell Boychoir.

Lenny was well known to many Loyola men for his singing on such occasions as the Sodality Masses and Mothers' Day and Christmas concert programs.

Lenny's last appearance at Loyola was his singing of the High Mass in the gym on the Feast of the Jesuit Martyrs of North America.
